

Presents

Money, Values and Your Children

on

Tuesday, October 2, 2007

From 6:30 p.m. - 8:30 p.m.

At the

Hennepin County Ridgedale Library

12601 Ridgedale Drive • Minnetonka, MN 55305

The Financial Planning Association of Minnesota is hosting a panel discussion featuring Nathan Dungan of Share, Save, Spend; Mick Endersbe of College Planning University and Chris Farrell, economics editor for American Public Media's personal finance show Marketplace Money. The moderator for the evening will be WCCO-TV news anchor Terri Gruca.

The topics discussed will include -

- Financial Values and education for children
  - Save and pay for higher education
- Manage the family's overall financial household in today's challenging environment

Junior Achievement will be providing innovative activities and games that focus on earning, spending, and saving money for students between the ages of 5 and 12 years of age while their parents/guardians are attending the panel presentation.

There is no obligation to attend this event. No products or services will be offered for sale.

Supporting Organizations

